

CAFÉ REASON BUTOH DANCE THEATRE

Bodies

Beyond
the Human

21 & 22 November
7.45 pm

Old Fire Station
40 George Street, OX1 2AQ

Arts OLD FIRE
at the STATION

Bodies Beyond the Human

Hugh Pryor

WE ARE physical beings – flesh and blood, skin and bone; our senses the interface between ourselves and others, and the world around us. Biology and culture influence how we inhabit our bodies, our choices and actions. Mysterious and compelling, with atmospheric live music from Malcolm Atkins and Keiko Kitamura, Bodies is a discovery and celebration of the physical self and our complex and timeless relationship with the Earth.

Stu Allsopp

Café REASON is a long-established local performance company specialising in butoh – the radical dance form that originated in post-war Japan, its aim to express ‘the hidden darkness of the body’ and the shadowy, marginal, and conflicted aspects of human experience. Bodies offers audiences a reimagining of form and interconnection, and the possibility of new ways of being.

“Quite magical; powerful and moving; I was captivated.”

Audience member (Tipping Point, 2020)

Tickets: £15/17/13
Tel. 01865263990

Old Fire Station
40 George Street
Oxford
OX1 2AQ

oldfirestation.org

www.facebook.com/cafareason @cafareason

www.cafereason.com/main/body_ecologies.htm
marketing@cafareason.com

<https://oldfirestation.org.uk/whats-on/cafe-reason-butoh-dance-theatre-bodies-beyond-the-human/>

Main photo: Stu Allsopp • Design: Ayala Kingsley